

POACHING PREVENTION

Martin is Data Manager for ERCCIS and Cornwall Wildlife Trust with responsibilities for managing GI and other datasets, ERCCIS outputs, volunteers and projects. He has worked on several terrestrial and marine projects involving large scale environmental data collection and analysis, habitat and species mapping, tagging, mobile technologies, training and identification methods.

Martin is also working with Exeter University's Environment & Sustainability Institute, in areas such as habitat mapping techniques, exploration of new or alternative data analysis techniques and Geographic Information technologies.